KAHUKU NOW IN TOWN COMMUNICATION

KAHUKU POINT STATION.

Land Telegraph Line Is Completed and Barber's Point Wireless Station Soon Will Be Discontinued.

With an electrical wire running directly from the office of the wireless company on Fort street along the route of the telephone line to Waipahu and thence up through the big gulch through which the railroad runs to Wahianga, across the Wahiawa plain to Waialua and on to Kahuku wireless station, Honolulu is now closely connected up with the rest of the world.
The stretching of the wire from Honolulu to Kahuku was finished yesterday and tests made which were satisfactory. When the line is in operation—and that will be in a day or two—Barber's Point wireless station will be abandoned, the company thereby doing away with a considerable item of expense.

The linemen began stretching the telegraph line last week and made a quick job of it. For the present the wire will be private and devoted solely to the use of the company. Messages filed at the company's office may now be telegraphed direct to the Ka-huku station without delay and from there flashed to whatever points are designated thereon. At present messages are telegraphed, or phoned to Barber's Point and relayed from there to Kahuku. This involves delays and is a rather cumbersome method. The public may now be certain that messages will be transmitted with only the minimum of delay.

At some future time the telegraph line may be attached to the public telephone system so that at times it may be used as a private telegraph wire and at certain times switched into the telephone service so that the entire town can talk to the Kahuku wireless man.

The Kahuku station is one of the finest in the public service. Additional accumulators have recently been added and new machines so that the plant is not only extensive but very powerful and communication can be held with Pacific coast points without relays. Of late the station has not attempted direct coast communication, merely maintaining and perfecting its interisland and ships-at-sea service.

The Barber's Point station is one of the oldest in the service of the local company. It has done yeoman service in establishing communication with the other islands and with vessels at sea. But with the powerful Kahuku station on duty there is no longer any necessity for maintaining it. When the transport Sheridan went on the rocks in front of the Barber's Point lighthouse a few years ago, the wireless station nearby was a center of activity. The press used the telephone and telegraph system into town at all hours of the day and night and the wireless plant was also pressed into service to establish communication with town via the naval station wireless plant.

"Anyhow the Barber's Point plant is about worn out," was Manager Balch's comment yesterday.

other string is pulled and the flow ceases.

The oil is loaded into the tanks at a temperature of 180 degrees Fahrenheit. Let it should cool off too much before it has been spread on the streets, the tank wagon itself is equipped with a steam coil, which can be connected with the engine at the plant on a minute's notice, and thus the cargo can be heated again at any time.

On Thursday the first of the heavy asphalt oil will be spread on the streets. King street will be the first street to be coated. The oil will be spread on for a distance of about two blocks from Punchbowl street Ewa.

Wilson believes that the streets, coated with the heavy asphaltum oil, will last much longer than can be expected where the lighter oil is used.
In fact, he believes that they will so closely resemble standard asphalt pavement that to the casual observer there will be no apparent difference.

The work on Merchant street was begun yesterday morning, when a start was made at laying the cement gutters. These gutters will extend all the way from Nuuanu street, where the start was made, to the Capitol grounds. Just as soon as they are in place the oiling of the roadway will be commenced.
